ECHO

The 1986 Yearbook of Greensboro College
Greensboro, N.C.

DEDICATED TO . . .

After much consideration, the 1986 ECHO staff decided not to dedicate the yearbook to any one person. Instead, this yearbook is dedicated to Greensboro College as a whole.

This whole includes not only people and places, but ideas and attitudes that distinguish between success and failure. One prevailing attitude that we hear about all the time is Palma non sine pulvere, which, roughly translated, means no success without hard work.

To all the people who embody this idea of excellence, the 1986 ECHO is dedicated to you!

A SENSE OF TRADITION AND FAITH

Main Building is an integral part of our community. Not only does it symbolize the college's tradition, it also houses the administrative and business offices. Main is also the home of Lea Center and the Parlor Theatre.

Hannah Brown Finch Memorial Chapel, built in 1954, was a gift given to GC by George D. Finch in memory of his mother, Hannah Brown Finch, who was a student here from 1882-1884. Finch Chapel is the site of many events, such as the Festival of Lessons and Carols, academic convocations, weekly worship services and communions, and weddings.

Main's third floor ghost appears in public.

A familiar scene with echoing memories.

OUT ON FRONT CAMPUS

Gracing the front of the G.C. campus, are two buildings that do much to preserve and perpetuate the history of G.C. The Brock Museum of Greensboro College History is packed full of memorabilia. There are dolls representing past graduating classes, as well as samples of clothing worn many years ago. Many people never take time to visit the museum, but it's well worth the time to do so.

Across from Brock sits the Library, which is also never visited by some people!

MEANWHILE, BACK AT THE STU

The Stu, built in 1940, also known as the "Y" hut.

The Grand Opening of the Student Center topped off orientation week. This introduction of the "STU" was one of the first activities for the year for all G.C. students.

The "STU" is the "heartbeat" of the campus for social activity. This is where the students and faculty can come and relax, enjoy the games, order from the Snack Bar, and see a different movie every week. The "STU" also houses an exercise room, the Bookstore, and the Post Office.

.... AND THE GYM.

The James G. Hanes Gymnasium was built in 1960, and named for a man concerned with the growth of sports at G.C. The Gym is the center of the athletic program, and many other recreational activities. As well as being a place to practice and enjoy sports, the Gym is also a classroom building for many P.E. and activity classes.

WHERE THE WORK BEGINS

Cowan Humanities Building, more commonly known as "Cowan", is one of the two classroom buildings on campus. Classes relate directly to the humanities; including such subjects as history, languages, religion, art, and philosophy. Cowan contains a lecture

Arts and Science Building, better known as A&S, is our other classroom building. Classes in A&S include the behavioral sciences, applied sciences, and business and legal administration. A&S contains a lecture hall, a day student lounge, a greenhouse, a dark room, and biology and chemistry labs.

CLOSER TO HOME . . .

In the dorms at Greensboro College, there is always something going on. Greensboro Dorm was the first of the dorms to be built. It was built in 1956. It was built to house women, but this year it became GC's first co-ed, honor dorm. Men's Dorm was built in 1961, seven years after the college became co-ed. Men's was renamed West Dorm in 1983. New Women's Dorm was built in 1969 to accommodate more women. The Dorm was renamed in 1983 as East Dorm.

... IN THE END

Odell Memorial Auditorium, built in 1922, was a gift given to Greensboro Female College by Mr. James A. Odell in memory of his wife, an honorary member of the Greensboro Female College Alumnae Association. Mr. Odell was a staunch supporter of GC beginning over 80 years ago. When the college was threatened to be sold in 1882 Mr. Odell assumed financial responsibility; in 1904 he helped Miss Nannie Lee Smith, the Joan D'Arc of Greensboro College, start an endowment fund. Finally on April 15, 1919, Mr. Odell gave the college $100,000 to be used in the construction of an auditorium and conservatory building. Odell Memorial Auditorium has been used in the past for the Opening and Closing Academic Convocations, and presently for senior recitals, Commencement, Cap & Gown, the Womanless Beauty Pageant, and all the music classes.

Our Student Service Building has not always been the home of the Dean of Student Affairs, Job Location & Development, Job Planning & Placement, Secretary to the Dean, and the office of Miss Sellers; in fact it has not always been called Student Services. This building, erected in 1939, was called the Aurelia Bowman Gray Student Hospital. She was a student here in 1863 when the college was destroyed by fire. The hospital was built so there could be a separate building housed with a permanent registered nurse. In the summer of 1975 Dean Donald Gunn moved the Dean of Students Office to this building and renamed it the Student Services Building. Dean Frances Efrid is the Dean now and she will be moving to Main Building to make room for the Athletic Field. Goodbye Student Services, it won't be the same without you!!

Dear Faculty, Staff, and Students,

When I stepped forward early this school year to reestablish the ECHO, I didn't know what to expect. I had never before worked on a yearbook, not to mention being a co-editor. Things were rough at times and the ECHO staff put a lot of time and effort into the yearbook, sometimes more than they had wished. However, I feel the end result will make up the difference for all of the time my staff devoted. I think the ECHO is an important part of our experiences here at GC. Years from now, we can look through these pages and relive the best, if not the most difficult, years of our lives.

I would like to give special thanks to Kim Baker, Carlos Anzola, Mark DeJournette, Michelle Hampton, Patricia Hedgecock, Gardner Henderson, Renee LeFavre, Lee Moore, Patrick Schott, Tim Wall, Misti Hospodor, Linda Wilson, Howard Sherrill, Dr. Harold Andrews, and Dean Efird for the time and effort they put forward for this cause. I hope you enjoy the yearbook and I look forward to seeing you again next year.

Sincerely,

Russ Bailey

To whom it may concern:
When I took on the job of co-editor, I didn't know what I was getting into. I couldn't understand why people were reluctant to do it. I had only worked on a yearbook twice before — once in junior high, and once in high school. I discovered quickly that "editing" is a different ballgame entirely. It was tough, but I'd do it again. Signing my name to page envelopes made me feel pretty important! Hah! I only wish I had another year to work out the kinks. I'm sure there are mistakes, and I apologize for them. But, hey, enjoy the book anyway!

Thanks to all my friends for putting up with me, especially Kathryn and Dawna. These pictures are for you all!

Sincerely,
Kimberly A. Baker

In Recognition Of The '86 Echo Staff . . .

Carlos Anzola took pictures tirelessly, and always offered to help.

Russ Bailey, co-editor, went above and beyond the call of duty to finish up when the semester was over. He's also responsible for sports.

Mark DeJournette, "Business Manager", took care of financial matters, sold ads, and always showed up for meetings.

Michelle Hampton took on the major undertaking of Campus Life, Who's Who, and Senior Superlatives.

Patricia Hedgecock photographed and developed endlessly! We couldn't have done it without her.

Gardiner Henderson helped Michelle with Campus Life well into the summer.

Renee LeFavre typed a great deal of copy, worked on the index, and offered to help with anything and everything.

Patrick Schott helped with the opening section.

Tim Wall wrote copy for Clubs and Organizations.

Misti Hospodor is responsible for the great artwork on our division pages.

I would also like to thank Linda Wilson, Howard Sherrill, and Dr. Harold Andrews for helping out with pictures. Special thanks to Dean Efird who supported us and put up with us! Thanks!

WHO'S WHO

DEBBIE ANDERSON

I came to G.C. as a transfer student. During these two years, I have had good experiences here at G.C. The education that I received here was what I was looking for. The faculty and staff were always friendly, helpful, and supportive. I made great friends during my years at G.C. and will always remember them. Dad, Marta, I hope you are proud of this goal I have reached. Mom, I want to dedicate this achievement to you. Thank you Greensboro College for these two unforgettable years.

So Long,
Carlos S. Anzola

CARLOS ANZOLA

Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities is a select group of college students who not only excel in academics, but are also very active in extracurricular activities. They are nominated by faculty, staff, other students, and even themselves. The winners will receive recognition and certificates at Cap & Gown ceremonies during commencement weekend. This year, 15 seniors were selected to represent G.C. in Who's Who for the 1985-1986 academic year.

CONGRATULATIONS!!!

JOHN DICKENS

My three years at G.C. has taught me a lot about friendship. I knew transferring would be a big change, but everyone here made me feel welcome. G.C. has made me strive to do the very best that I can. As I leave, I know that I will be prepared for the future. Thanks G.C. for three wonderful years and good luck in the years to come.

John Dickens

During my four years, I have come to know and to be influenced by so many people. The friendships that I have made will always be special, because the support of those friends have carried me through college. The most influential and special memories will be of the encounters with faculty and staff. To them, I was somebody and was never shuffled into their files. To Drs. Hull, C. Wilson, McGaughey, and Tatum, I extend much thanks and love. G.C. will always be a part of my life.

I came to G.C. as a transfer from a large university. There, I was one of thousands but I soon learned that at G.C. you can be yourself and be recognized. The faculty and students show a personal interest in everyone making you an important part of the G.C. community. I have grown not only intellectually but personally, becoming aware of my abilities and weaknesses. G.C. holds a special place for me and I wish the best to everyone involved in it.

KAREN RIEGEL

During the children's sermon, Grady Roe asked, "What do you like about church?" One little boy replied "leaving." In a sense leaving is the best part. Not leaving my friends at G.C., for I will feel a loss, but leaving with insight into who I am, my potentials, shortcomings, and skills. Entering a world with hopes and desires, only aware that nuclear arms threatens my "Picture Perfect." Yet "To become what we are, and what we are capable of becoming, is the only end of life." I love you, Mom, Dad, Maggie, Shelly, Carlos, and Mark!

"Today We Anchor, Tomorrow We Sail"

Unknown

I remember my freshman year wondering what G.C. had to offer me and just exactly what would become of my college life. As a senior, I wonder where the time has gone but realize how much I am coming away with. I feel lucky to be a part of G.C. because it truly cares about people. The faculty and staff at G.C. are unique and I thank them for challenging me but most of all for being my friend and being there when I needed you. Life is what you make it and the choice is yours. I am glad I chose G.C. and it will always be a part of me.

Marti Sweetman

WARREN G. STEWART

I feel it is an honor and a privilege to be named to Who's Who. I realize that my contribution to G.C. has been small in comparison to so many others since 1838, but I hope that I have left an everlasting impression upon G.C. for the betterment of the institution. I feel hypocritical in receiving an award from G.C. where I owe so much to this institution for giving one an opportunity to prove my worth. In the past four years I have matured and developed tremendously. I associated with so many good people that have enhanced my life. If everyone is as privileged as I am then your tenure at G.C. will direct you in the best course to follow with out hesitation or worry. I leave as my legacy to the students of G.C. and especially the minorities to get involved, emphasize academic, and enjoy your college years. I love you all and will miss you greatly.

Sincerely,
Warren G. Stewart

Not Pictured:
Kevin Jones

Kevin has been a day student here at G.C. for the past four years. Being a day student can hamper extracurricular activity but not with Kevin. Not only was Kevin active in extracurricular activities, but he kept his studies up. He is currently serving as Vice President of Alpha Chi, and is active in other activities. He is a fine example of how day students can become involved.

I look upon this moment not as a finishing point, but as a starting point in my education. There is still so much for me to grasp, my education has just begun. I have done a lot of growing up at G.C. One of the most important lessons I have learned is to accept the challenges and meet them. Without the support of my parents, I could not have achieved all of my goals. To my professors, I thank you for the knowledge I have gained. As I reflect the memories I shared with the friends here at G.C., I know our friendship will last a lifetime. G.C. has offered me opportunity that keeps me a step ahead. It is going to be hard to leave, knowing that so much of me is and always will be a part of G.C. Timshell!

This could only be fulfilled by one man, Dr. William Henry Likins, sixteenth president of Greensboro College. Greensboro College is the heart and soul of Dr. Likins, and he believes that she will grow and prosper due to the people who take such interest in her. Emphasis on liberal arts has been an ongoing part of G.C. since its founding in 1838. The small size, academic excellence, student centered organizations, and physical soundness make G.C. an excellent college in which to develop outstanding qualities.

Dr. Likins brings with him many new ideas. The students feel a closeness to him because his ideas are very much student oriented to better prepare them and the college for the future. Dr. Likins is a great supporter of all activities on campus. Wherever you turn, you can find him and his wife, Martha, cheering on the team, or just being there for moral support. Dr.

Likins feels that, "it is just as important to have a dream, as having the will to make it come true." On behalf of the ECHO, we officially welcome you, Dr. Likins, to our college. May you guide her in the dream and help make it come true!

Dean W. Barnes Tatum has served this college in many ways; Associate Professor of religion and philosophy, Dean of the college, and the role of interim president. He has made it a point to maintain the high academic standards found at a small, private, liberal arts college. Dean Tatum was also the organizer of the Lifelong Learning program here at G.C. This consists of evening and weekend classes for those who seek an alternative to traditional undergraduate study. Dean Tatum states that, "It's a tradition here at G.C. to approach learning as a life-long activity."

One noticed many changes, returning to G.C. in August 1985. The greatest change being the new Dean of Student Affairs, Mrs.

Francis Ditto Efrid. Dean Efrid was counselor for Greensboro Public Schools since 1984. She has also held many positions as Counselor for Student Development at VPI, Resident Life Coordinator at NCSU, and head resident at the University of Arizona.

Dean Efrid plays a key role here at G.C. She has many responsibilities which include: Residence Halls, STU, Counsel Administration Team-work, and Career Planning and Placement, along with advising SGA, Mentors, Campus Courts, and the ECHO. Her reasons for coming are many. She has always wanted to be Dean of Students at a small private college. The diversity of the job and the opportunity to work closely with students were the two deciding factors that she found here at G.C. Dean Efrid has gained the well deserved respect of the students here at G.C. Welcome, Dean Efrid!

A Record Winning Season

Under the guidance of third-year coach Jack Poland, the men's soccer team finished the season with the best overall record (9-7-4) in school history. The team, comprised mostly of sophomores and freshmen, played with much spirit and intensity. The team's leading scorers were Saulo Martinez, Mike Thorn, and Steve McNulty. Excellent team defense was anchored around goalkeeper Tim Guter. Highlights of the year included a seven-game unbeaten streak and an upset victory over nationally ranked N.C. Wesleyan in overtime. The Dixie Conference honored the Hornets by selecting Mike Thorn as a first-team back, and Saulo Martinez as honorable mention.

The G.C. Volleyball Team ended their season with the first losing record (7-25) for Coach Lojko in her four years. Although the record looks bad, the team was qualified to win every match they played. The Hornets finished in fifth place behind UNC-G, CNC, St. Andrews, and Methodist. Individually, the Hornets placed several players on the all-conference teams. Junior Wendy Shope was a first team all-conference selection while Lorraine Orr, Sondra Christy, Gena Inman, and Donna Christy were honorable mention selections. The Hornets will return all the players, and along with several new recruits, should once again compete for the DIAC Title.

The Men's Basketball Team ended their season with the first losing record (3-22) for Coach Mikels in three years. The Hornets, picked to finish first in the conference, were hurt by graduation losses and an extremely tough schedule. Seniors Steve Bowser, Gene Corbett, and Ty Stout performed well all season. Steve Bowser and freshman Russell Anderson were selected to the all-conference second team. The season took a lot out of the players, but they regained a sense of pride with a victory over conference-foe Averett on a last second shot by Jimmy Howard. The Hornets will return a nucleus of young players, who will continue to improve and gain confidence. The Hornets are looking forward to being on top of the conference for years to come.

The Women's Basketball Team ended their season with a record of 8-16. Coach Lojko's squad jumped out to a great start, 6-3, but managed to win only two of the remaining fifteen games. The Hornets finished in sixth place and were ousted by N.C. Wesleyan in the first round of the Conference Tournament. The team was led by sophomore Lorraine Orr, who was selected as second team all-conference. Other outstanding performances were turned in by Lisa Wall, Donna Christy, and Carol Burns. Lisa Wall was chosen as an honorable mention all-conference selection. With the return of these experienced players, the Hornets should compete for the conference title next year.

The Greensboro College Woman's Tennis Team finished the season with a record of 3-11. Coach Sue Ireton, in her second year as head coach, improved not only the competitive spirit of her players, but she also stressed respect and sportsmanship. As a result, Coach Ireton was selected as the conference coach of the year. Outstanding personal performances were recorded by Debbie Shutt, Sandy McGee, Lee Hadlock, and team MVP Sondra Christy. Sondra and doubles partner Tamara Swanson proved to be a formidable opponent this season. The Hornets will retain a mixture of talent and experience and should look forward to much success in the near future.

The Men's Tennis Team completed the season with a record of 5-11. Third-year Head Coach Jack Poland faced a difficult situation this year. The Hornets were hurt by the loss of three of the top six seeds from last year's squad. This year's squad consisted of three returning lettermen and four walk-ons. The team was led by the number one seed, senior Andy Bakas. Andy played extremely well all season and his personal record was 15-3. However, Andy was wrongly excluded from the national tournament. Individually speaking, John Creech, Eddie Smith, Rodney Barton, and Donnie Vernon played well throughout the season. The Hornets competed in the conference tournament and finished in a tie for fourth place overall.

Greensboro College fielded its first-ever fastpitch softball team this year. Coach Cathy Haddad did an outstanding job of molding the players together into what became a very good team. The Hornets finished the year with a record of 16-16, which included three tough losses to nationally-ranked Virginia Wesleyan. Outstanding individual efforts were made by Donna Christy, Michelle Fisher, Michelle Bickford, and Lorraine Orr. Michelle Bickford was chosen as team MVP, while Donna Christy made the all-conference team as the second baseman. The Hornets, despite playing a tough schedule, can only improve and gain experience. Next year promises to be a very exciting year. Congratulations on such a successful beginning.

Coach Cathy Haddad was a member of UCLA's national champion team in 1974. She hopes to bring similar rewards to G.C.

NCAA Tournament Bound Once More

Front — Darrell Crall, John Zurich, Ermon Rush, Dale Callaghan

Back — Dr. Locke — Coach, Jeff Antal, Marcus Russell, Marc Richter, Eric MacCluen, Donnie Vanderbeck

The Men's Golf Team closed out an outstanding season by participating in the NCAA Golf Tournament. The Hornet golfers played extremely well all season. They participated in six tournaments prior to the nationals.

The Hornets were consistently one of the top finishing teams in each tournament. Their worst finish was finishing sixth in two tournaments, at the Max Ward Tournament and at the Pembroke St. Invitational. The Hornets finished second at three tournaments, the District III Invitational, the James Madison University Invitational, and at the Winthrop Invitational.

The squad participated in the Dixie Conference Tournament, but finished a disappointing third place, behind arch rivals Methodist and UNC-G.

However, the NCAA recognized the team's true potential and invited the entire team to participate in the National Tournament. The tournament was held May 18-23 in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania. The team responded to the challenge, and after the first three rounds, was in second place. The team fell to fifth place on the last round to finish the tournament. Still, we must congratulate Eric MacCluen, Darrell Crall, Dale Callaghan, John Zurich, Marc Richter, and Coach Locke on the best finish in GC Golf History. Congratulations should also be given to individuals Eric MacCluen, a 2nd Team All-American, and Darrell Crall, a 3rd Team All-American. Congratulations on a GREAT season!

"STU" DANCES

If there is one thing the Student Union is famous for other than their good food and fun video games, it's their outrageous dances. Throughout the year Wayne Stegall and Leslie Bryan keep G.C. boogieing with dances at Christmas, Halloween, and Valentine's Day just to name a few occasions.

At right, C.C. students get down right before first semester exams begin.

Can you guess what song is being played?
The world famous "Gator" attacks G.C.

Stephanie Kelly and Karen Lemon are trying to decide whether to watch or join in

The "Unknown DJ" spins a few tunes for everyone to dance to Freshmen get into the music.

FALL INTRAMURALS

Intramurals are a big part of the Greensboro College campus life. Not only is football, softball, volleyball, and basketball offered, but so is bowling, pool, and putt-putt. Intramurals play a big part in G.C.'s after hours activities. Many say it is a good way to meet people, learn sportsmanship, and get exercise!

Stephanie Kelly waits for the ball to be put into play, while Jim Ference referees contently

Right, Cindy, our exchange student from Japan, learns football well by darting by Lee Hadlock. Cathy Rumley and Rosalind Sator can't seem to catch up to Cindy

James Fawcett takes a breather in between an IM softball game

Lisa Tysinger shows her true colors during a stop in the action

Carol Burns waits for the pitch while April Winston and Jim Ference wait behind the plate

LIP SYNC

The Fall Lip Sync contest was sponsored by the Stu on Oct. 4. Above, Cathy Rumley, Lisa Tysinger, Susan Sherrill, and Noel Chambers won by performing "My House," by the Mary Jane Girls.

Sheila E., Rosalind Sator, made an appearance at this year's Lip Sync Contest

Jim Ference, above, performed a solo as George Michael of Wham!

Left, Marcella Carter has a "New Attitude"

Above, Lisa Tysinger and Al Boney dance in between performances

Right, Jimmy Howard is chillin'

HALLOWEEN

On Nov. 1, the Stu held their annual Halloween costume dance. Many characters showed up, ranging from little girls to Budman to the devil himself. Great fun was in store for the students who danced way beyond the bewitching hour.

At the stroke of midnight, GC students are still going strong

Leslie Bryon meets world famous Chippendale dancer Jim Ference

Eddie Smith and Angela Harvey look forty years older

Eunice Ann Harriss, waves her hanky at everyone

LIGHTS OF PEACE

Festival Of Lessons And Carols.

Finch Chapel fills with anticipation.

Dr. Hull gives the Christmas Prayer

The Christmas season brings a special tradition to our campus. The Festival of Lessons and Carols lights up the front of our campus. The community, faculty, staff, and students fill the chapel to hear the lessons and carols of the birth of Christ.

The Festival of Lessons and Carols, preserved by Dr. Hull after a visit to Cambridge, England, was celebrated on December 8.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY . . .

President Likins takes the initial slice into the cake

Sarah Remy loves the sweet icing!
